DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-6, 8, 10, 12-13, 15-16, 18-37, 40-45, 47, 49, 51, and 53 are drawn to a method for screening a repertoire of members against another repertoire of members to identify their interaction, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.
 - II. Claims 7 and 9 are drawn to a method of making an array, classified in class 436, subclass 518.
 - III. Claims 11, 17, 46, 48, and 50 are drawn to a method for creating a combinatorial library, classified in class 435, subclass 4.
 - IV. Claims 14 and 16 are drawn to a method for creating and screening a combinatorial library, classified in class 436, subclass 86.
 - V. Claims 38-39 are drawn to a method for determining conditions for a biological interaction, classified in class 436, subclass 2.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions of Groups I, II, III, IV, and V are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions as claimed have different method steps that have different functions and modes of operation that is requiring different reagents and/or producing different products/results.

Art Unit: 1639

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the searches required are not co-extensive thus requiring a burdensome search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Additionally, different patentability considerations are involved for each group. For example, a patentability determination for Group III would involve a determination of the patentability of the method for creating a combinatorial library while a patentability determination for Group V would involve a consideration of the patentability of the method for determining conditions for a biological interaction. These considerations are very different in nature.

Even though some of the groups are classified in the same class and/or subclass, this has no effect on the non-patent literature search. Different groups would require completely different searches in non-patent databases, and there is no exception that the searches would be co-extensive.

4. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention.

5. If applicants elect the invention of Group I, applicants are required to elect one species from each of the following group of species. The groups of species are as follows:

- a) A single specific species of repertoire of members (e.g. first and second members, first, second, and third members, combinatorial library of polypeptides, combinatorial library of two-chain polypeptides, combinatorial library of three-chain polypeptides, or cellular populations).
- b) A single specific species of surface (e.g. solid surface, three solid surfaces, or tube).

Art Unit: 1639

The species are distinct, each from the other, because each species have different chemical structure and/or physiochemical properties and would be capable of separate manufacture and/or use; and would necessitate different and separately burdensome manual and computer bibliographic and structure searches in both patent and non-patent areas.

6. If applicants elect the invention of Group II, applicants are required to elect one species from each of the following group of species. The groups of species are as follows:

a) A single specific species of combinatorial library (e.g. two-chain polypeptides, three-chain polypeptides, or paired polypeptides).

The species are distinct, each from the other, because each species have different chemical structure and/or physiochemical properties and would be capable of separate manufacture and/or use; and would necessitate different and separately burdensome manual and computer bibliographic and structure searches in both patent and non-patent areas.

7. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

8. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

9. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

10. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

11. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
